

Edmund Piro, CFA

Chief Investment Officer

J.W. McConnell Family Foundation

Edmund Piro is the Chief Investment Officer at the J.W. McConnell Family Foundation, where he is responsible for oversight and strategy initiatives for the Foundation's endowment assets, including its recently announced 100% impact investment commitment.

Edmund has 15+ years of experience in the investment industry since earning a bachelor's degree in commerce from the John Molson School of Business at Concordia University. He is a CFA charterholder and completed sustainable investment certificates at both Concordia University (SIPC) and Oxford University (SFFC).

Edmund is Chair of the Board at the Loyola High School Foundation, a member of the Terry Fox Foundation Investment Committee and volunteers with various organizations in his community.